Lesley:

I would like to propose and/or speak at a meeting on the possibility of an off-season dog run on a small section of one of Stamford's beaches - perhaps Cummings.

Stamford used to have on their website that November through March - it was OK to walk your 'leashed' dog then but it's no longer posted.

I've been walking my dogs for the past three years at the Long Ridge Union Cemetery. There's plenty of signage there to pick up after your dog with trash bins. I've never once seen any accidents there. Also, Scofieldtown Park has plenty of signage also and it seems to work.

Anytime I have been to Cummings Park Beach over the years in the off-season - I have always picked up (and properly discarded) broken glass. I'm not sure why that is acceptable and not dogs taking a quick swim in the middle of the winter.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
